

My memory of WebValley? “It made the difference in my life. I feel privileged”

June 15, 2017

Davide Leonessi, "Webvallian" of the 2014 edition, studies mathematics at Oxford now.

When he was a senior in high school, he found himself catapulted to Trentino where he had the chance to exchange views with students from around the world who opened his mind on future study prospects.

Just six months after his WebValley experience, his application to the University of Oxford was accepted and – he says – “without even noticing, in six months it became quite real... and thanks to WebValley.” After a year and a half of crazy and desperate study, Oxford has given me great satisfaction. “I feel privileged,” said Davide Leonessi.
